Tips for Teachers

You can print the cards, cut and laminate them so that you can use them longer. One game that is easy to play is to put the cards in a box or a bag and then students can pick a random card to answer. Or they can always choose a card for another classmate to answer. The majority of the questions could be answered by A2 level students. However, you can use the game with higher levels and ask for justification to the questions, even with advanced students as an icebreaker or a filler activity.

I hope you enjoy it and have fun with your class!
